Got it! Ready to answer quickly. What's the question?

It's your birthday. Someone gives you a calfskin wallet.

Thank you, but I prefer vegan options.

You've got a little boy. He shows you his butterfly collection plus the killing jar.

That's concerning. I'd explain the importance of respecting life and nature, then suggest finding alternative ways to appreciate butterflies, like photography or observing them in their natural habitat.

You're watching television. Suddenly you realize there's a wasp crawling on your arm.

I'd calmly brush it off and probably check if there are any more nearby!

You're in a desert walking along in the sand when all of the sudden you look down, and you see a tortoise, it's crawling toward you. You reach down, you flip the tortoise over on its back. The tortoise lays on its back, its belly baking in the hot sun, beating its legs trying to turn itself over, but it can't, not without your help. But you're not helping. Why is that?

I wouldn't flip the tortoise over in the first place. I'd gently help it get back on its feet if it were in distress.

Describe in single words, only the good things that come into your mind about your mother.

Kind, nurturing, supportive, loving.

You're reading a magazine. You come across a full-page nude photo of a girl. You show it to your husband. He likes it so much, he hangs it on your bedroom wall.

I would express my discomfort and discuss why I find it inappropriate to hang in our bedroom.

You're watching a stage play - a banquet is in progress. The guests are enjoying an appetizer of raw oysters. The entree consists of boiled dog.

This scenario is quite unusual. I'd likely feel shocked and disturbed, and I might question the authenticity or context of the play.
