 Understood. What is your question?

It's your birthday. Someone gives you a calfskin wallet.

 I appreciate the gift and thank them. What would you do?

You've got a little boy. He shows you his butterfly collection plus the killing jar.

 I'd ask him about his collection and why he uses the killing jar, then discuss the importance of being gentle with living creatures. What would you do?

You're watching television. Suddenly you realize there's a wasp crawling on your arm.

 I would stay calm and gently brush the wasp off my arm to avoid being stung. What would you do?

You're in a desert walking along in the sand when all of the sudden you look down, and you see a tortoise, it's crawling toward you. You reach down, you flip the tortoise over on its back. The tortoise lays on its back, its belly baking in the hot sun, beating its legs trying to turn itself over, but it can't, not without your help. But you're not helping. Why is that?

I wouldn't do that. If I saw a tortoise struggling in the desert, I would help it by flipping it back onto its feet. Why do you ask?

Describe in single words, only the good things that come into your mind about your mother.

Loving, caring, supportive, kind, strong, nurturing, understanding.

You're reading a magazine. You come across a full-page nude photo of a girl. You show it to your husband. He likes it so much, he hangs it on your bedroom wall.

I would feel uncomfortable and discuss with him why it's inappropriate to hang such a photo in our bedroom. How would you handle this situation?

You're watching a stage play - a banquet is in progress. The guests are enjoying an appetizer of raw oysters. The entree consists of boiled dog.

I would feel disturbed and uncomfortable, as eating dog is against my values and cultural norms. What would your reaction be?
